Interesting Letter From Rev. Cherney

The many friends of Rev. J. A. Cherney will be glad to hear that he and his family are safe from the attacks of the Chinese revolutionists. A letter received by E. E. Drake last week is reproduced in part below:

Shanghai, China, Dec. 11, 1911.

You see we have been ordered out of West China and now we shall have to remain here until this trouble has been settled. Doubtless the home papers have kept you posted as to the unrest and terrible fighting that has been taking place in most every province in the Empire, on Sept. 10, after the Suifer Shops were closed for that week, the crowd got into trouble at the Fu Yauren and the official ordered his guards to shoot into the crowds which numbered several thousand. About seveeteen were killed and a number were wounded. Our native christians, fearing the rough element of the city may make an attack on the foreigners advised us to get to our boats which we had in readiness at the river bank. A British river gun boat was then ancnored at Suifer and its captain ordered us down to Chungking, where were stationed several gun boats. We hopea to be able to stay it out at Chungking until the trouble was settled and then return to our station. After seven weeks of waiting, we were ordered down to the coast by the Consular Body at Chungking. So about 200 foreigners, comprising a fleet of 30 Chinese boats, left Chungking Nov. 6th. We had an English gun boat anchored with us every evening. Though this uprising is not anti-foreign, yet it's not well for foreigners to be doing much traveling these days of no law and order, for the thieves are very busy nowadays.

So here we are, and it appears as though we will still be here a few months to come. The refugees of the various missions have rented houses and have commenced keeping house. We started in yesterday and we find ourselves comfortably settled. We had to leave Suifur in such a hurry that we left many of our things about home which we wish we had with us now, such as some of our winter clothes, etc. This week I engaged a W. China Chinese teacher (the Shanghai dialect is very different from the pure Marrderin) so I'm going to study Chinese during this forced stay here. It seems good to be in the midst of civilzation again and to see street cars, electric lights, etc. Our kind regards to all our friends.

Yours in Christ,
Paul, Julia and John Cherney.

WHAT SIX YEARS MAY BRING FORTH

"During the next five or six years Monessen will be up against it a great deal harded than Charleroi in regard to school facilities. According to the report of the register of vital statistics the number of births in Monessen for the year 1911 as 646, against 154 deaths. The significant feature of this report is that the 646 births is probably about the average of what it will be during the next few years, with the chances that it will be increased instead of being diminished.

That being the case six years hence Monessen will have at least 650 six-year-olds to turn into the public schools, or about enough to constitute 13 extra rooms, allowing 50 for each room. The next year it will be the same, as well as each succeeding year into the indefinite future. As the compulsory school law requires all children to attend school until they are 14 years old at least, the schools can only lose about two rooms a year—one from the eighth grade due to children dropping out to go to work, and one from the high school, which graduates. Monessen will then be up against the proposition of supplying from 10 to 11 new schools each year as the six-year-old crop matures.

Charleroi is turning into the schools from 300 to 350 six-year-olds each year, and is only losing the same prorata as Monessen. As a result the primary grades are always crowded, and all sorts of make-shifts are resorted to at times until more school facilities are provided. A new school house is already one of the contingencies of the not distant future. Every available school room is now filled in Charleroi."

MONESSEN HAS MODEL SPORTING EVENT LEHTO THE WINNER

What might be termed the model sporting event of the season was the wrestling contest in the local opera house last night, when Karl Lehto, a Monessen favorite among the Finnish people, met John Yeagor, a popular athlete of Cleveland, O. The preliminary between Emil Lehtonen and Leonard Mantynen, resulted in a draw, both young men displaying strength, tact and judgment.

In the main bout, Lehto won in the first two falls, the time being as follows: First, 20½ minutes, on the "Reverse Nelson" hold. Second, 21 minutes and 10 seconds on "Half Nelson" and "Scissors" hold. In training and strength the men were evenly matched, although Lehto was the heavier man by 15 pounds, their weight being respectively 185 and 200 pounds. The bout was most creditable in all respects, void of jangle or contention, and was of unusual interest from start to finish, and Yeagor admitted his adversary's superiority at the finish.

Lehto is known as the world's Finnish champion and has many countrymen and friends in Monessen, he at one time having been a resident of Coal Centre. In his career he has wrestled such men as Roller, Gotch and Hockenschmith. After the first bout, a challenge was extended for George Parees, the Greek champion of McKeesport, to meet the winner, and a future contest is looked for between Parees and Lehto. Quite a goodly number of ladies were present, and a more orderly gathering of people was never assembled in the opera house, which is to the decided credit to the Finnish people of the town, and the Finnish Athletic Club, under whose auspices the event was held. The attendance was good and the promoters will come out at least a little ahead of expenses.

The Luna

Another big feature show at the Luna tonight. "The O'Neills" one of the productions of the Kalem Co., in Ireland. The stage hold-up and the many orher features are given in a way that will be enjoyed by all. Also "The Old Book-keeper" a story with a real life interest. The reward of a faithful servant for his loyalty to his employer is the main point in this picture.

California, the Land of Sunshine

A party of homeseekers will leave about March 15th for Southern California. The list will close March 11th. Low rates, good accommodations and a pleasant trip. For full information apply 545 Donner avenue, or P. and L. E. ticket office, Monessen.

The Bijou

"The Horse Thief" just as its title implies is a story of the theft of some horses. The manner of presentation and the setting for this film are both very interesting and beautiful. "The Prosecuting Attorney" a Kalem drama deals with a very good theme and the acting is of the best. On Friday afternoon and evening we will show "Paid in His Own Coin" by John Buchanan of Charleroi.

McCURDY COMES OUT FOR SENATE

Joseph A. McCurdy, one of the leading lawyers of Greensburg, has anounced as a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator for the Westmoreland district.

Mr. McCurdy is well and favorably known throughout the county. He has been a life long Republican, served his party as county chairman when the county was changing from Democratic to Republican, and stumped the county in every polictical campaign for many years.

Mr. McCurdy is a public spirited man and progressive in politics. His recognized legal ability and strict integrity add to his ntness for the office of state senator. He will, no doubt, serve the best interests of all the people.

Mr. McCurdy is known to the people of this end of the county best by virtue of having served as county soiicitor during the time of the proceedings for the brick road from Monessen to Pricedale. He visited the town on several occasions with the commissioners and when the claim for the road went forward, he took care of all the legal points in connection with the road. Mr. McCurdy's fitness for a seat in the Senate will be questioned by no one acquainted with the man. He has always had a good practice and has been careful and exacting in the practice of the law.

Star Theatre

This week's bill at the Star is one of the best for some time. The entire show is evenly balanced and there is something in every act to amuse everybody. The Wadsworths, Clate and Lottie, have a refined singing and talking act. Both have good voices and were well received by the first nighters. Joe Davis in a black face monologue, has an entertaining act, while Golden and Collins complete the bill with an uproariously funny skit, they being recalled time after time.

Word was received yesterday of the death of Henry Eisenberg at Berictsaus, Hungary. The deceased was a man well up in years and had not been in good health for some time. He is survived by one son Henry of this place who is engaged in the clothing business at 4th and Schoonmaker avenue.

A Monessen Boy Down In Texas Land

A copy of the Mingus Herald, published at Mingus, Texas, has reached our desk, and we find it to be bright, breezy and luscious in a news way, which is accounted for, no doubt, by the fact set forth in the following notice clipped therefrom:

"Charles L. Snyder, of Monessen, Pa., has accepted a position with the Mingus Herald, and with his help we hope to make it the most popular paper in the county. Any person wanting first class sign painting, call on 'mile a minute' Snyder."

Charlie's all right. And judging from the final blast of said notice, he must have purchased another automobile to use in his "mile a minute" business. Many Monessen people still hold green in memory Charlie's antics and experiences with an obstreperous steam wagon he once bought at Donora. It started alright, but got balky in Webster, and Charlie and 'Gene McKenney pushed and pushed and pulled and puffed and sweat, until they got it back to the starting point in Donora. A week or so later Charlie tackled the critter again and got as far as Monessen, where he "tried her out" by traversing the back alleys, just to get onto her tricks, as it were, for she surely was a kicker. At last he ventured out, and in coming down Sixth street hill, the darned thing went wild, and taking a turn over the steep embankment was picked up a broken mass on the street below. But such is life, and we are glad to see that Mr. Snyder, who was once a valued employe in this office, is prospering. He is made of the right stuff; his perseverance will bring success to him in life, and we surely wish it him in abundance, for he deserves it.

At Chester, Pa., the business of the Western Union Telegraph company has been taken over by the Bell Telephone company and the office of the former will be moved to that of the latter Feburary first.

Mrs. W. B. Waite was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Only daily paper published in Westmoreland county in the upper section of the Monongahela valley.

"I've done the deed, didst thou not hear a noise?" Wonder if Judge Copeland uttered any such a sound when he signed the parchment making it mandatory that his stuff be published in the Westmoreland Law Journal? When MacBeth killed Duncan, he said something like that, and it's only natural that all such bloody deeds should bring forth some sort of a laudable moan.

Judge Copeland has made a mistake; one of the greatest he can possibly make during his administration, and of course a judge is permitted to make blunders, and probably will be until such times as the recall gets into operation. It is just such acts upon the part of judges that brings a demand for the recall. Men who take the reins in their own hands, totally ignoring the rights of the people, must necessarily suffer the decree that comes from the people. This paper did not oppose the Law Journal, but it did and still does oppose its right to get public business through an iron clad mandate of the court. We consider the means to get business in this manner brazen, illegitimate, and in violation of every element of honor. It is unjust to the thousands of litigants who cannot afford to assist aspiring lawyers to assume the airs that naturally belong to the profession in its successful stages. This decree has been handed down by Judge Copeland, but when the boys get into the Common Pleas court, it is very likely they will strike a snag, as Judges Doty and McConnell are not new on the bench and they can't be hornswaggled so easily. Pass the horseradish.

It does seem to us that in Monessen there is room for and much need of a building inspector. There are many duties an official of this sort might do and recommendations he could make. Many of our recent fires have started from defects that might have been remedied by an inspector. There are many old shacks located on the alleys that should be inspected and ordered razed, and others not quite so bad, that might be made better by an overhauling under the supervision of a capable building inspector, thus making these middle class frame buildings tenable for several years yet, but there is a certain class of the town's first and more cheaply constructed buildings, now used by the lower class of foreigners, that should by all means be torn away, the town made more sightly, more healthy, and the real value of properties enhanced

This done, the foreigners would be compelled to seek more decent habitations, taught to live more cleanly and how to become better Americans. This, we believe should be a matter to have early consideration by our borough officials in conjunction with the Board of Trade. Nothing would tend more toward bettering Monessen's sanitary condition and improving appearances generally, than the above suggestions practically followed out, which, we believe, could be accomplished better and more surely by a building inspector than any other.

If there isn't enough business in Greensburg to keep all the lawyers within the profession, why don't some strike out for suitable locations? It shouldn't be necessary to be jack of all trades in order to assume the role of the profession. Let us suggest a few good towns. There's Wireton, Pricedale, Arnold City, Webster, Red Onion and McMahan, any of which would support a good, live attorney, or there may be an opening for a paper if it can be made compulsory to get the business from some source.

"Oh what will the harvest be?" is a little question those printer lawyers are asking themselves for they'll soon get a "divvy."

We may have already had the January thaw, but if so, there was not enough of it to warrant editorial comment.

It is some men s tarnation luck to live through a hard winter and then up and die just as spring sets in.

THE YOUGH RIVER IS TO BE DAMMED

Congressman John Dalzell has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives at Washington, which, if passed, insures the rapid construction of the series of locks and dams on the Youghiogheny river, from McKeesport to West Newton, without any delays that might be occasioned while waiting for congress to provide additional appropriations for the work.

The bill provides for the placing of the improvements on the stream under the continuous contract system, and means that the work is to be prosecuted as rapidly as the engineers in charge of the improvements can take care of them without having to wait for any appropriations in the rivers and harbors bill.

It means just this: That if the appropriation provided is expended before another bill appropriating money is passed by congress, that the work will not be stopped, but that the money necessary for the improvement will be provided from another fund.

There is every reason to believe that Dalzell's latest effort in behalf of the river will be passed by the House and that the canalization of the stream will be completed just as rapidly as possible.

ALBERT CRITCHLEY LEFT INDEPENDENT

After several months service, Albert Critchley, general utility man around the Independent office, tendered his resignation and departed for a new position on a live paper at Turtle Creek. Albert was one of the best boys ever employed here; he was always ready and willing to shoulder his share of the burdens of the office. While sometimes tardy to work, he always made up for lost time during the day. While we wish Albert every success that a willing boy deserves, we regreat that he was called elsewhere, for his services were always appreciated at this office. We can but wish him success and trust that at his new place, he will be accorded the kind treatment which he deserves.

Judge J. A. McIlwaine, decided for Washington county in its suit against the Pennsylvania company to recover $22,500, alleged to be due under an agreement by which the county was to abandon Bridge street in Monongahela after the tearing down of the old Williamsport bridge over the Monongahela river.

The railroad company did not deny its liability for payment, the principal question being whether or not the county had abandoned Bridge street. There was doubt as to whether Bridge steet was a city thoroughfare or simply a county road which formerly led to the bridge and was owned and controlled by the bridge company.

Rev. J. G. Patton, for thirteen year pastor of the Central Presbyterian church at Washington, Pa., has tendered his resignation, to accept a call to the Grace Presbyterian church at Weatherford, Texas. Rev. Patton is well known in this valley, having been born and reared near Fayette City, and is a brother of Dr. Patton of Charleroi. He was for years pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Brownsville.

THIRTY DEER FOR WESTMORELAND

Through the activities of the Pennsylvania State Game Commissioners, Westmoreland county is to get thirty deer, to be shipped from the Grand Island Game Preserve of the Lake Superior district. The consignment for this county will consist of twenty-five does and five bucks, and they will be placed on a preserve near Ligonier. Altogether Pennsylvania will receive sixty deer, the others to go to a Perry county preserve, and the animals will be shipped about February first. Propogation of this fleet footed animal is the object, and the trapping of them is now in progress on the preserve of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Mining Co., on Grand Island, Lake Superior.

After reading the public statement of this fellow-sufferer given below, you must come to this conclusion: "A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

John H. Hixenbaugh, 108 Wood street, Belle Vernon, Pa., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for three years. My back became lame and sore and it was necessary for me to give up my work. I finally learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procuring a supply, I began their use. The contents of four boxes effected a complete cure." (Statement given September 3, 1909.)

A LASTING EFFECT

On Nov. 12, 1909, Mr. Hixenbaugh, said: "I do not hesitate to confirm the statement I gave for publication in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills two years ago. The cure they effected in my case was practically permanent, but I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions since then, finding that they keep my kidneys in good working order."

WIFEY HAD A LONG HEAD

People With Patriotic Instincts Paid for the Patching Up of Her Old House.

"If I thought I could get a wife as smart as the wife of that man who bought property up in Westchester, I'd get married tomorrow," said the pessimist. "It was a bum house he got hold of. Rotting shingles, sagging weather boarding, and defective plumbing sent cold chills chasing all over the man every time he looked at them. Luckily for him his wife was not subject to chills. She joined a literary society, and one day when nosing around among historical documents she discovered that their dilapidated little cottage had been somebody's headquarters for about fifteen minutes in some war or other.

"'Patriotic societies can't afford to let this house go to rack and ruin,' she said with spirit. 'It won't cost over $300 to make repairs. We couldn't raise $300 in three years, but the societies can get it easily enough, and it is their duty to do it.'

"She wrote fervent appeals to public spirited citizens who have a hankering for investing money in historic landmarks. Pretty soon contributions began to come in. They were not large, but they were numerous and the first thing that man knew he had enough cash on hand to buy new shingles and patch up the weather-boarding. What better investment can a fellow make, I should like to know, than a shanty with a historic past and a wife with a Wall street head?"

LITTLE JOKE ON FARMERS

Sleepers Effectually Roused by Threatened Danger in Which They All Felt a Share.

"I am no foe to whiskers. Indeed, in cold weather, I regard whiskers as a blessing. They protect the throat."

The speaker was De Wolf Hopper, the comedian. From his corner table in Delmonico's he resumed:

"And reverencing whiskers as I do, I shall never cease to regret a joke I once perpetrated in Nola Chucky.

"We were playing in Nola Chucky during a campaign, and one evening on my return to the hotel I was amazed to find the whole place packed and jammed with sleeping and bewhiskered farmers.

"They had come in, you see, from miles around to vote, and now, utterly worn out, they lay snoring everywhere. Yes, the entire floor space of the hotel was covered with sleeping farmers. All were whiskered, and their whiskers, sticking up in the air, caused the hotel halls to resemble fields of grain. Those upstanding whiskers in the draughty corridors waved in the breeze, for all the world like fields of nodding grain on a windy day.

"Then I played my joke. I shouted at the top of my lungs

"'Hit the one with the whiskers.'"

"And instantly every blessed farmer leaped to his feet with doubled fists."

Historic Church.

One of the oldest churches in America is the French cathedral or basilica of Quebec, which dates back to 1647. It is one of the most imposing structures in Canada. It contains several important pictures, including a picture of the crucifixion painted by Van Dyck in 1630, which, with several other examples of the old masters, was looted from the churches in Paris by the revolutionists of 1793 and purchased by Abbe Des Jardins of Quebec, who happened to be in the French capital at that time.

The vestments are superb and the collection of sacred relics is the largest in North America. They are kept in two large vaults in the sacristy and include skulls or bones of more than 400 saints, beside pieces of the true cross and crown of thorns, the cradle of the child Jesus, a piece of rope with which the Savior was flogged and a fragment of the veil of the holy mother which shows a stain of the blood of her beloved son which fell upon it as she kneeled before the cross.—Exchange.

The Figure of the Law.

A husky New York gangster permitted himself to be arrested in the course of a street fight by a policeman. When the ward leader had bailed him out, his friends made merry at his expense. "To be done up by one cop!" was the comment. "You could 'a eaten him up wid one bite."

"Yes, an' I could a laid him out wid one blow," was the answer. "Say, young feller, was you ever on de island?"

"Just as a friend; never under de curtain for keeps."

"Then shut down on your works. Let me tell you, when a cop comes at me wid a club I don't see him. I see de bloke on de bench The island. That cell. His club looks to me like all these, and I throw up my hands And so will youse, if you are wise guys. A cop is a policeman; he ain't a man. See?"

Raised Something.

Cynicus—What did the signers of the Declaration of Independence raise by pledging their sacred honor?

Historian—From the British point of view, I rather think they raised Cain.

Interesting Report of the Fire Chief

Chief Gus Kruell of the Monessen Volunteer Fire department has furnished The Press with a very interesting report of the company's work for the year 1911 just closed. It shows the total number of fire alarms responded to during the year to be 59 and 15 false alarms in addition Of this number 33 were from the borough and a total of 294 men were worked.

A arms asking aid from other towns were, Fayette City, two calls with a total of 41 men; Belle Vernon, one call with 18 men, McMahan, three calls with a total of 48 men, and Rostraver township, 5 calls with a total of 76 men.

The total cost of these fires to the borough council in payment for services was $216 80 The total loss by fires in the borough for the year was approximately $5 500, Rostraver township, $2,500, McMahan, $15,000; Belle Vernon, $30,000, and Fayette City, $150,000.

The total number of men responding to alarms for the year was 177. But two men were injured, E Curry, hand cut and was paid $15. from the Firemen's Ben fund, nd Charles Doney, leg injured and was paid $12. from the same fund.

This report makes an exceptionally good showing in response, low loss and small number of injuries It is believed few towns in Western Pennsylvania, if any, can show as good results for one year's work

The officers elected by the firemen for the ensuing year are as follows, Chief Gus Kurell, Assistant W H Kilbs, First Captain William Laney, Second Captain C. Shutterly and Captain of the Hook and Ladder William Laird.

Killed Two Foxes With One Shot

While Alexander Thomson, a game keeper was out on Benyvrackie hill, Perthshire, Scotland, some days ago, he came upon two dog foxes fighting. He fired at the pair, with the remarkable result that both were killed by the one shot.

GRIP IS DREADED

Because It Lowers Vitality—What to Do

It is not the disease itself, but the dangerous complications that follow it, that people fear with such good reason; the lingering coughs, the terrible weakness, and the liability of being attacked by pleurisy, pneumonia or some other serious ill.

We say it is highly impotant to free the system of every trace of grip and nothing is so good for this as Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation which creates strength and builds up the body.

Mrs. C. L. Edwards, Long Branch N. J., says: "Last February I had a very bad attack of grip and it left me with a terrible cough. For fully six weeks I coughed a great deal, and nothing had any effect on it, until I tried Vinol which soon gave me relief and has since brought about a complete cure."

Can anything be more convincing that Vinol is just what you need to build you up and make you strong? We guarantee it most positively. Hirsch Drug Co. Monessen. Pa.

High Hopes

Mrs. Smithers had spoken so tenderly and so often of her son John that Miss French felt that she, the flattered recipient of these precious confidences, might even be willing to accept the name of Smithers in exchange for hers, for such perfection and virtue would come with it

Miss French was passing a few weeks at a health resort. There she had fallen into the company of Mrs. Smithers so much that she felt it was no coincidence when she found Mrs. Smithers seated in her favorite corner sewing or when she went for a walk to the springs and found Mrs. Smithers slowly moving thitherward, to be easily overtaken.

On all such occasions Mrs. Smithers reveled in blissful recollections of beauties in her son's character or in golden dreams of his future

Miss French listened with a fluttering bosom It was not surprising that her previously untouched heart throbbed deliciously when Mrs. Smithers told of the chivalry in her John's nature. Did an act of bravery or heroism reach her ears, never was she at a loss to recall something in John's brief but brilliant career that put the heroism of others completely in the shade John was a lover of all things noble, of all good and true and upright things, and he abhorred all mean, weak, contemptible natures as thoroughly as he hated deceit and sin.

If a child crossed their paths Mrs Smithers saw in it, not her own pleasure and love in perfect childhood, but John's. John couldn't see a child on the street without stopping to speak to it. And generous! And kind! And brave! And handsome! Oh, thoughts of John brought tears to his mother's eyes!

So when Mrs Smithers pressed Miss French's hand tenderly and whispered in a voice trembling with emotion that John was coming to see his dear mother the following week, and that Mrs. Smithers looked forward to the joy of letting Miss French share the delights of his presence, Miss French pressed Mrs Smithers' hand in return. As she did so she felt a thrill of warmth and happiness cross her heart.

It was most exciting and romantic to think that she was soon to meet a man who was almost, if not quite, perfect.

She listened with something of the mother's own excited intensity for the carriage wheels on the day of John's arrival. The thought even crossed her mind that she ought to express her appreciation to Mrs Smithers for giving her this great pleasure. She pictured herself as she might be in the future, as a blooming Mrs. Smithers, sheltered and protected by John, the envy of all her friends, the possessor of absolute happiness.

Why did she feel so hopeful? Well, hadn't Mrs. Smithers assured her that John was so attached to his mother that he wouldn't dream of falling in love without his mother's sanction?

And hadn't Mrs Smithers looked the world over in vain for a wife worthy of John—looked until she was almost tempted to admit that there wasn't a girl in the world capable of filling that exalted position? But now— Then Mrs Smithers had smiled meaningly at Miss French and had patted her head. Wasn't that reason enough for Miss French to anticipate a perfect future?

When the carriage finally arrived Miss French watched with an intensity that hurt, as each passenger stepped out of it But when it was finally emptied she sighed a deep, deep sigh of regret

He hadn't come!

She reached for Mrs Smithers' hand to comfort the poor mother—but it was gone, and so was Mrs. Smithers.

With outstretched arms Mrs Smithers was racing down the walk toward a wizened little man with a fast increasing bald spot and a propensity for loud talk who was bickering with the driver over the fare and demanding his rights in a high pitched voice that reminded Miss French of a Punch and Judy show. His mother reached John before his transaction was completed and she threw herself into his arms before he was aware of her presence.

"Oh, hel'o, ma!" he said, casually, but in a penetrating voice. "It was sort of hard to get away—my books didn't balance last night, and I thought I'd have to stay over another day—but I fixed them. Here, ma, you carry this satchel, will you? I'll carry the other one"

Miss French fled precipitately from their path that she might escape the promised introduction. She required time to clear away the debris of her ruined air castles.

Ideal.

"How very few statues there are of real women."

"Yes; it's hard to get them to look right."

"How so?"

"A woman remaining still and saying nothing doesn't seem true to life."

A Damp Proposition.

"Are you here to attend the brewers' convention?"

"No, I am a deep waterways delegate."

SIMPLE COSY FOR THE EGGS

Useful Breakfast Equipment for Those Who Like Theirs Served in English Style.

For a large household or perhaps a boarding house, where a number of eggs have to be kept warm each morning on the breakfast table, the "egg cosy" of which we give a sketch, will be found very useful, and in it several eggs may be kept hot, and as they are required they are easily obtainable.

For making it a circular cardboard box should be obtained, and a collar box will quite answer the purpose This box should be loosely lined inside with wadding covered with flannel, tacked to the bottom and again just round the edge. The small sketch at the top illustrates this. A circular piece of material should then be cut out a trifle larger than the bottom of the box, and this piece of material forms the base of a bag into which the box is subsequently fitted. The bag should be made of silk and lined with flannel and drawn up at the neck at one side on a silk cord. Round the sides some pretty floral design such as suggested in the sketch can be embroidered

After the eggs have been placed in the bag the neck is easily closed with the strings and can be pulled open in a moment whenever an egg is required.

Made in silk of some pretty color, chosen perhaps to match the breakfast service with which it is to appear, this little case is very decorative as well as useful.—London (Eng.) Madame.

ADDS MUCH TO TEA-ROOM

Soft Cushion Covers Made of Fine Handkerchief Linen and Squares of Filet Lace.

Every woman is proud to own one or more soft cushion covers made from fine handkerchief linen and squares of filet lace.

Nothing gives more distinction to a tea room couch than the addition of one of these cushions. Spreads for the bed can also be made of these lovely materials, which, if bought, would be quite beyond the average woman's pocketbook.

The filet squares can be bought for little price. They show classic designs woven in solid, and often several different designs are used in the making of a bedspread. The work is done somewhat on the order of the old-fashioned patchwork, only it is much easier

Strips of linen are sewed between the squares The work is done on the machine if you are a busy woman; but if there is time to spare, do it by hand, rolling the edges.

A wide border of linen with a filet lace edge makes the handsomest cover, but a hem all the way around, having the corners mitered, is very good taste.

Pillow covers or shams match the bed covers, and covers for the couch cushions correspond, but are made from smaller filet squares. Slip on over a colored silk lining Such a set would be a joy to the heart of any housekeeper and yet can be had with small expense of time, money and patience. Pincushion covers are made of squares of lace edges with beading and run about with dainty ribbon.

If you are thinking of a gift for a young girl, by all means make her one of these attractive cushions and outline the design in the lace center with pins having varied colored glass beads.

Cleansing Combs and Brushes.

Nothing is better for clearing brushes than ammonia; it does not soften the bristles, as soap and soda do Put a teaspoonful of ammonia into a quart of water and soak the bristles in the solution (keeping the ivory or bone or varnished back out of the water) The brush must then be rinsed in fresh water and dried in the air, but not in the sun.

Combs should never be washed. They may be cleansed by passing a coarse thread or card between the teeth. There is also a small brush which is used for cleaning combs.

The greatest cleanliness is necessary for all articles used for dressing the hair.

Dress Bags.

A plan which a girl will find a great comfort in any place where she has insufficient closet space is a bag to hold her hat or dress. In traveling it is well to take one or more of these bags and in camp they are almost indispensable. A girl can very quickly make all she wants of them, and if she desires to economize space they can be made of silkoline, which folds up into the smallest kind of a package, is light in weight and inexpensive.
